City Quizzes Highlands On Annexation

10 Days To Reply; Assure Water, Gas, Sewers, Etc.

If the residents and property owners living in the Highlands area desire to incorporate their area within the city limits of Fulton, they will have about the best opportunity they have ever had during the next 10 days, the Fulton City Council announced this week.

Within the next month the Fulton City Council is going to extend water, sewerage and other services to the Ferry-Morse site in Highlands and while this work is in the planning stage it can enlarge its plans and take in all of Highlands, the Council decided Monday night.

It all depends on whether the residents want city conveniences, the Council says. No pressure will be put on anyone to ask for incorporation and if the residents don't want to come into the city the thought will probably be dismissed and not again discussed.

In order to get the sentiments of residents and property owners in the Highlands area, a letter was mailed to each yesterday afternoon explaining the situation and asking for an expression from each of them.

The letter, which pretty well explains the situation, is as follows:

Old Smoke Stack Pulled Down Wednesday

The old smoke stack on the I. C. boiler room on Carr Street was pulled down Wednesday morning at 10. The smoke stack had not been used in sometime, and was of no use now that only oil is being used.

To All Residents and Owners of Property in Highlands
Dear Friends:

Because of the location of the Ferry-Morse Seed Co. plant west of the I. C. Railroad New Yards it has become necessary for the City of Fulton to make and plan extension of its facilities to serve this plant.

To make this extension, only to serve the plant, will require definite size lines but it has been suggested, by competent engineers, that for a slightly increased cost the base lines to the plant could be increased in size to provide services for the people in Highlands.

For example: an 8 inch line would provide sewerage for the plant, while a 12 inch main would provide sewerage to Highlands. The digging of the ditch would cost little more for a 12 inch line than for an 8 inch line. There would be some added cost for 12 inch pipe over 8 inch pipe plus the extensions of laterals and mains throughout Highlands.

As another example, the plant would need a water tank of 100,000 gallons capacity. The increase to 153,000 gallon capacity would provide added pressure and service to Highlands. The Ferry-Morse Seed Co. would pay a considerable part on the cost of approximately $57,000, for the tank and the City would be required to pay the balance.

Of course, the city could not make any such extension unless the area was in the city limits, and in order to get your views the council has authorized this letter so that by the response it could reach certain conclusions.

If the Highlands area is annexed to the City of Fulton, it would be proposed:

1. That the water line be looped and fire plugs installed generally over the area.

This would bring about a re-rating of the insurance and effect generally a reduction in rates from 62c per $100.00 of insured valuation to 24c per $100.00.

In addition your property would have primary demand upon the fire department, whereas today you only have permissive use.

The city would absorb the present water-system into the city system with assumption of the payment of outstanding bonds issued by the Highlands Water Districts and will assume future maintenance and extensions.

The present minimum charge for water would be nullified and a new rate would be established.

2. Your property would be assessed for taxation as of April 1, 1959, at the same rate as other property in the city (75c per $100.00 of assessed valuation) and your assessment would be equalized by the regular Equalization Board with all similar property in the city. The average of assessment in Fulton today is 30% of the actual valuation. For example: a piece of property worth $9,000 would be assessed at $2,700, and the city tax would be 27 x 75 or $20.25.

By comparison: you generally insure your residence for near its full value, and using the same example, the above property valued at $9,000 may have a residence insured for $8,000. Your present insurance rate is 62c per $100.00 and you present insurance bill is 80 x 62c or $49.60. The new rate would be 24c per $100.00 or 80 x 24 equals $19.20. Subtract $19.20 from $49.60 and you have an insurance saving of $30.40. Your household furniture is exempt for taxation but

Sea Faring (??) Traveler gets Seasick on dry land

(By Jo Westpheling and Mary Nelle Wright)

So we finally got to New Orleans on Wednesday afternoon and the first thing I wanted to do was take a tour of the French Quarter to see if everything was as I left it nearly 30 years ago. It was! We checked in at the Monteleone Hotel and after getting organized called by brother, sister, nieces and nephews and found that our unexpected visit had them involved for the evening. Just as well. We were tired, wanted to have a good dinner, and then start out bright and early the next day.

We sauntered into one of my favorite eating pastimes, an oyster bar, where I could have eaten all the oysters in the bay. Mary Nelle doesn't take to the shell-creatures (raw) as I do, so we decided to go to Jim Moran's La Luisanne restaurant where we were given the "treatment." Service out of this world, and then coffee with burning brandy in the dimmed lights of the restaurant... turned out just for us.

And so the next day we took to the quarters and it was there that Mary Nelle met her Waterloo. Driving along the wharves, "old Navy Salt" Mary Nelle thought it would be "wonderful" to visit one of the ships in port. We drove right up to the ship, asked the wharf attendant if we might go aboard, and said he:

"Try, the only thing they can do is tell you to get off." We tried. Got on.

Now you well know that these sea-going vessels have gang-planks (steps) alongside to go aboard and I started up the fifty foot climb and thought "old salt" was right behind. Like heck she was. I turned back to see Mary Nelle at the foot of the steps, getting paler all the time at the thought of the climb. She was being urged to ascend by the wharf attendant and she climbed a few steps and promptly went back down. Would you believe that girl was plain, durned sea sick LOOKING at that ship, much less boarding it.

After two or three starts the wharf attendant got tired of urging her to go ahead and finally took her by the hand and the two of them came aboard. Shaking his head, he went down, but

Aboard we met the wife of the executive officer who was a perfectly delightful British lady who had a sister living in Newport, Ky. Soon her husband came on deck and he was a movie version of a Swedish mate. In his clipped, fascinating accent we talked on and on about the ship's destination (Australia, Japan, etc.) and all the while I could see that Mary Nelle was getting paler by the minute thinking of the descent. We finally had to go, and while all the Swedish sailors on top deck kept telling Mary Nelle that she could make it... reminded me of a mountain-climber with acrophobia... she made a few attempts to make the climb downward. Didn't do it. Finally the first mate told her to close her eyes, take off her shoes, and with him guiding her like a seeing-eye dog, she finally made it down.

Her experience aboard a ship... (she talks about going aboard when Don is stationed overseas somewhere) made her unable to get around most of the day.

Well, on Thursday night my brother, my sister, my nieces and nephews all had things planned for us... seafood dinner, New Orleans hospitality, etc. and when came time to partake of that sip of New Orleans coffee and doughnuts at the Morning Call Cafe in the Quarters we were pretty pooped.

Enter Mary Nelle
Yep, that's just as true as can be, Jo—that ole water down below me just "threw me when I looked down between those high

Kentucky, Already Hard On Employers, Will Be Vicious If Fund Reserve Is Deliberately Drained

Kentucky employers, who have already done more than their fair share to support the unemployed in the State through an unemployment tax levy, are going to fork over unprecedented amounts to the unemployed beginning next January 1st.

The new tax schedule is based on taxable payrolls under $3000 per year per employee and does not reflect penalties, should one's fund be exhausted. It is as follows:

Now	January 1, 1959
0.6%	0.6%
0.9%	1.2 to 1.8%
1.8%	2.7%
2.7%	2.7%

On top of this, Governor Chandler is considering calling a special session of the General Assembly to extend unemployment benefits for thirteen more weeks. Such an act would exhaust the current reserve fund more rapidly and would cause an additional employer tax to help restore the depleted fund.

This could mean a serious business situation for Kentucky firms. It would add another increase to the cost of doing business, and would certainly damage the industrial expansion program throughout the State.

We go along with the thinking of the Kentucky Chamber of Commerce, which believes that if an expanded unemployment-compensation program must be effected, the money should come from other sources than the pockets of the employers throughout the State. Says the State C of C this week:

"Kentucky's manufacturers and businesses are already paying a rate excessively high when compared to states in the industrial North and East, and far more to its unemployed than other southern states. This is a hardship on business in Kentucky in its need to be competitive.

"Increasing the Unemployment

Compensation Insurance burden on existing industries and business in Kentucky will retard business growth in the Commonwealth. Business of necessity must find ways to cut down on costs... the result in the long run will be to diminish job opportunity rather than expand job opportunity.

"Prospects of Kentucky's getting new business will continue to diminish as 'word gets around' that Kentucky is 'hard' on employers because they must support an unfair and tremendous welfare load. New business considering Kentucky for a location will quickly see that they cannot afford to start here under such a handicap.

"In comparison, an article in 'Business Week', dated March 29, 1958, showed Kentucky paying a gross average to the unemployed individual of $645.84. In this comparison, West Virginia paid $546.25, Ohio $770.88, Indiana $362.57, Illinois $572.47, Missouri $443.34, Tennessee $492.66. Taking a look at our other competition for new industry, Alabama paid $383.01, Arkansas $329.76, Georgia $444.41, Louisiana $343.95, Mississippi $419.40, North Carolina $497.25, South Carolina $394.38 and Virginia $280.68.

"The article in 'Business Week' further shows Kentucky having a duration of benefits which is third high... in the nation. Kentucky in this comparison ranks 31st on amount of average weekly benefits paid. Kentucky ranks second in the number of weeks it pays benefits. Kentucky ranks eleventh in gross average benefits paid to the unemployed individual. Those who rank ahead of Kentucky are Alaska, California, Connecticut, Nevada, New Jersey, New York, Ohio, Oregon, Pennsylvania and Washington. It can be seen that all these areas enjoy a much more wealthy economic position."

Highlands Residents and Property-Owners To Decide On Annexation; City Council Sends Questionnaire

This morning the Fulton City Council mailed letters to residents and property-owners in the Highlands seeking their views regarding annexation of that area within the city limits. The letter contains pertinent information regarding insurance rates, tax rates, water rates and other information concerning the annexation plan. The letter also contains a ballot asking the residents and property-owners to say "yes" or "no" as to whether they wish to be annexed into the city limits.

The question of annexation for the Highlands has been before the Fulton City Council for several years. At a mass meeting in the past the majority of the residents of the Highlands indicated that they did not want annexation and active consideration of the matter was dropped.

The situation today is far different from what it was a few years ago, in many respects. For one thing, the Highlands, out of the city limits, is not under the jurisdiction of the Planning and Zoning Commission and thereby the area is becoming increasingly more commercialized, lessening its attractiveness as a strictly residential area. However there are many beautiful homes in the Highlands and many more can be built if such conveniences as sewage, street lights, fire and police protection could be offered. And these conveniences will be available pending the wishes of the Highlands residents at the proper time, if they are brought into the city limits.

We have long advocated the annexation of the Highlands as a step toward progress for the people living in that area. Now, however, it appears ever more desirable since the beautiful, new Ferry-Morse Seed Company plant will be built there. The City of Fulton has announced that a sewage system will be laid out to the new seed company plant and also an overhead water tank will be erected for the convenience of Ferry-Morse. With all these wonderful improvements being made in the area it seems almost foolish to fool with septic tanks, high water rates, low water pressure, unkept streets and a score of other nuisances when modern improvements are within easy reach of all of us.

We ask that every resident and property-owner of the Highlands study carefully the letter sent out by the Fulton City Council. If, in your judgment you think that living can be made more pleasant by such an annexation we urge that you vote "yes" for annexation.

On the other hand, if you fail to see the benefits to be derived from such annexation, we surely respect your judgment to vote "no." But please, as a good citizen, do not close your mind to the matter for reasons that are purely selfish. Study both sides and then vote.

Enthusiasm and interest was manifested on all sides in the Farm Bureau Picnic and Fat Hog and Cattle Shows, which were held at the fair grounds in Fulton, Wednesday. Competition was keen among the 4-H Club boys and girls, and more than 1,000 farmers of Fulton and Hickman counties participated in the celebration.

In the fat hog show Robert Jeffries took first honors, and Harold Pewitt was second. Raymond Harrison was first and Joe Bazzell second in the breeding gilt show.

The Garrigan family was tops in the fat cattle show with Maxine Garrigan taking first, Lucy Garrigan, fourth and Ann Garrigan, fifth. Lee Adams won second award in this contest.

Many people believe that the life of a reporter is an easy one, and sometimes that is true. But, believe you me, things get mighty trying sometimes, and everything seems to go wrong.

Now, one reading the paper would not think that writing a story on a Farm Bureau Picnic, calf show and queen contest, would be much of a problem, but let me tell you, it can be quite a headache.

For example, last Wednesday was press-day, and that is always a busy day. County Agent John Watts called to say that if I could come out about 12:30 or 1 p. m., I could get the winners for the paper.

At noon, I dashed home for lunch, then on out to the City Park. I was in a big rush to get back to the office, but didn't see one place I could park. There was some space out in the middle of the field to my right, but I couldn't see how to get to it.

There is a sign reading "no parking" in a certain section next to the tennis court. As there was already one car parked in that section and I could see no other place, I decided to park there for a few minutes—long enough to get the story.

After getting out of my car, I was ordered by a policeman to move. That hurt my feelings. I moved on down the street. I found one place, but my car was too long to back into it, and had to go on. Seeing no place to stop, I decided to not get a story and return to the office. Then, I said, "I can't do that. Jo's expecting a story and two plates of barbecue." Then, around the curve on the back side, near where the city dump used to be, I found what looked like a very good place, and there was no "no parking" sign or policeman in sight. I made sure I parked off of the pavement and was about to get out of my car when another policeman showed up. He said I was blocking cars parked in the field.

He offered to show me a way to get into the field and to drive down through the field to the front near the barbecue stand. By that time I was in tears, I decided again to return to the office and drove on.

Finally, another spot showed up just before I got to the last turn of the back stretch, and as I drove through the ditch and over two logs, it sounded as if my car might be flying apart.

After walking a "half-mile" back to picnic grounds, I finally got my story and Jo's two plates, but I can assure you I was in no pleasant mood when I returned to the office. Things like this make news reporting a very tiring job sometimes.

It is my opinion that the City Park needs more adequate parking areas, as situations like this arise everytime a large crowd gathers there.

SERMONETTE OF THE WEEK

Speak Up For Decency

By Rev. James Keller,
Director of the Christophers

Recently a man in St. Louis turned off a TV show because he regarded it as unsuitable entertainment for his family. His comment was: "That is the type of thing that twenty-five years ago was burlesque—for men only."

MILLIONS of decent Americans are shocked by the increasing vulgarity and depravity being circulated in print, over the air, and in films. And the recent wave of delinquency is evidence that their worst fears are well-grounded.

But you are in a position to see that the literary and entertainment fields are distinguished by good taste and decency. Don't underestimate what one person like you can do. With God's help, your courageous stand can have a telling effect.

A BUSINESSMAN in Oklahoma recently proved this. He belongs to a business group, exemplary in all respects except one. The entertainment at their annual party was, as he put it, "an insult to any normal person and debasing to say the least."

When he protested to the management, they gave him the usual answer. "That's what the men want." Not satisfied, he challenged them to poll the membership by mail. The results surprised everybody. 77% of the men voted for a change to decency. The men got the type of entertainment they really preferred—not what a small minority "assumed" they wanted.

We sometimes forget that every person has a pretty fair idea of what is decent and what is indecent. God has given us all a sense of right and wrong. It only takes a little effort to follow our convictions and others will fall in line.

Remember that every newspaper, magazine and book publisher, every radio, TV, and movie company is dependent upon you for its very survival. Their business is to serve you—not dominate you.

YOU HOLD the purse strings. Every dollar you spend can be a vote for or against decency. You must be the judge. Your power to be selective can be a decisive one. Stir up others to approve or disapprove quickly and forcefully, and you will do much to raise the standards of literature and entertainment.

In meeting this growing problem, first of all, be just and fair. Recognize the efforts of publishers and producers to maintain high standards. Occasionally write to congratulate them on their good work and assure them of your prayers to help them fulfill their responsibility to the public.

FURTHERMORE, make sure to be positive and constructive—not merely negative and critical. Good literature and entertainment means far more than absence of filth, just as health means much more than the avoidance of disease.

There it is... the rest is up to you. In a thousand ways you can do much to improve our moral standards if you will SPEAK UP FOR DECENCY.

City Schools To Receive Allotment Of $48,005.00

The foundation program for education will be financed this school year at a cost to the State of $48,005.00—an increase of $2,903.80 over last year.

Of this sum, Fulton City schools will receive $48,005 as compared to $50,464 last year. The Fulton County Schools will receive $210,684, as compared to $210,200 last year.

This record sum means common schools alone will get 46 cents of every general-fund dollar the State spends this year, not counting money being spent from surplus for capital outlay.

For all of public education, the State will spend almost 63 cents of every general fund dollar this year, exclusive of its expenditures from surplus.

The tentative allotment of all except $2,422,000 of the foundation fund to the State's 215 school districts was announced Friday by Dr. Robert R. Martin, superintendent of public instruction.

This sum is being withheld for distribution after gathering of final data about advances in teacher training this summer, and any growth in pupil load that shows up during the first two months of the school term this fall.

The tentative allotments are made at this time so that school districts can prepare their budgets with some knowledge of what to expect in the way of State-aid funds.

Under the tentative allotments, the school district will be required to raise $44,000,000 from local tax sources—an increase of $2,100,000 over last year as their share of support of the foundation program.

Valuable Deposit Of Silica Found In Calloway

An extensive high-purity silica deposit, which has possibilities of more than a 1,000,000-ton reserve, has been discovered in Calloway County.

Preliminary studies which brought out the high quality of the silica and the potential of the deposit prompted Dorris Ezell, discoverer of the pit, and a business associate, Tommy D. Taylor, Murray automobile dealer and a brother of Dan Taylor of Fulton, to form a processing company known as Murray Sand Company. Taylor is president and Ezell is secretary and treasurer.

Capitalized at approximately $100,000, the company plans to start processing the silica in a $75,000 plant it is building at Murray early this fall, possibly by Oct. 1. Most of the stock in the company has been bought by Murray and Calloway County residents.

High-purity silica, which chemically is silicon dioxide, is a sandy substance used principally in the manufacture of glass and fiberglass products.

Corning Glass Company, Corning, N. Y., already has contracted with the Murray company for 20,000 tons of Calloway County silica a year.

The deposit is located along Blood River, three miles south of the Calloway County community of New Concord, oldest settlement in the county.

Shortly after Ezell discovered the silica deposit, the Murray Chamber of Commerce in cooperation with the State Department of Economic Development asked the Kentucky Geological Survey to investigate the possibilities.

The explorations and tests were made by Preston McGrain, assistant State geologist, and an assistant, Thomas C. Crawford. The Kentucky Geological Survey plans to continue its studies and explorations in the Blood River section in an effort to determine extent of the silica reserve, according to McGrain.

McGrain, in a report after completion of the survey's early studies, said "the discovery of a deposit of high-purity silica sand along Blood River... could possibly bring new and expanded industry into Western Kentucky."

Among the candidates for bachelor degrees is Robert Carney of Fulton.

Diary of Doin's

(Items gathered along Fulton's merryway for your pleasure and your scrapbook)

Ever go to a big city and stand on a street corner and watch the throngs go by? Ever study the faces of the people who saunter by and wonder what they're thinking . . . what kind of homes they come from . . . if they're happy? Ever get the urge to stop them and ask just those very questions? Well, this reporter has and last week we got the sudden urge to take such a "pool" and we did just that. Yes, while waiting for the children to get their fill of dime store shopping we stood outside the store on a busy St. Louis street and just interviewed those folks to our hearts content.

Probably what prompted the "pool" was the sack dress. This controversial fashion of modern times puzzles, intrigues and amazes us. As we looked at some of the gals passing by with those "things" on we wondered whether they were victims of an eager sales girl or whether they bought the things to hide something they've been trying to conceal for years. Moreover, we wondered whether the women really liked them or were they just wearing them for fashions sake.

Our first victims were two elderly ladies "way past their sixties" . . . and would you believe it, these animated barrels had on identical sack dresses of seersucker. We couldn't resist walking up to them and saying: "Are you sisters?" (Here let us say that people are suckers for polls, or polls are for suckers.) Anyway the ladies were agreeable enough and replied, "No, we're just friends."

Whereupon your pool taker asked: "How did you happen to each have a dress of the same material and style?" They answered: "Well, it's just funny. When we met today we almost went into hysterics when we saw that we had on the same dress and we didn't even know that the other had one."

And that figures! Oops, we mean there was no figure. Our next question was: "Do you think the sack dress is here to stay . . . ?" It was the opinion of our baggy friends that it was only a fad. Thank heavens! !

Actually people of our particular physical structure should welcome today's sack dress . . . it would from many a diet free us, and foolish notion. But no . . . we think it would be an injustice to the children to remember their mother as the saddest sack of all!

The trip to St. Louis was a combined business and pleasure one. We have promised the children a trip to St. Louis to see the zoo ever since they've been big enough to know a zebra from an elephant. So the long awaited trip was taken when we noted that "Hansel and Gretel" was showing at the Municipal Opera in St. Louis. Also on the program was a ballet from the Nutcracker Suite, the "Dance of the Sugar Plum Fairy." Mary Jo was in a trance during the latter portion and since then has tried to walk like the prima ballerina . . . and does a fairly creditable job, too!

But on to your doings since we chatted with you last. GID AND MONETTE WILLINGHAM, AND MONETTE'S MOTHER, MRS. PARSONS, of Peoria, Illinois are in Fulton for a visit and of course their trips home make for happy times in many homes around town. Gid has been playing lots of golf, we imagine, although we haven't had time to check on his score. Probably great, no doubt.

And in the blessed event department "three" little newcomers have enriched the lives of "two" former Fulton families. "One" son was born to DR. DANNY BAIRD AND JOAN in Norfolk, Virginia early Sunday. The young fellow has been given the name of Danny McDade Baird, Jr. and that makes a whole passel of grandmas, grandpas and great-grandmas, and great-grandpas happy indeed.

But "Two" young ladies arrived at the home of JANICE WHEELER RORIE AND HUBBY, WENDELL. We have it from our good friend Myrtle Latta at Water Valley that the twins are pretty as all get out with the prettiest red (???) hair you ever saw. So if you see Grandpa Bennett Wheeler "Giving Away" cigars instead of "selling" insurance you know that the "old man" has every reason in the world to be walking on air. The Rorie's live in Nashville.

Biggest surprise of the week for the home folks was to see DR. THOMAS CALLAHAN AND SON, SKIPPER, of Washington, D. C. "slip" into Fulton this weekend. From what we learn this is an unscheduled visit for Thomas, but its for sure he must have gotten that "middle August" feeling 'way up there in Washington and knew that the "feeling must be a trip to Fulton . . . so he came home. Lovely WILDA and the rest of the Callahan clan were not able to make the trip and that's the only sad part of the week. Somehow when we go to the Farm Bureau picnic each year, we just look around for Thomas. But this year he missed it by a few days . . . could be he smelled that Farm Bureau barbecue in Washington and just followed the aroma home?

Bill Morris has returned home after touring Europe with a farm group.

Mrs. Nick Nichols and baby returned Sunday to their home in Lansing, Mich., after spending several days here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Pete Green. Jackie Rawls, who has been in Lansing visiting her sister, returned to Fulton with them.

Lt. Jack Helm, who has been stationed in Korea for the past year, arrived home last Wednesday afternoon. In a short while he and his family will move to Maryland, where he will be stationed.

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Cole and daughter, Pam, of Indianapolis, Ind. were guests of Miss Ouida Jewell last Wednesday evening. They spent last week in Clinton and Dresden visiting their parents, after visiting in Oklahoma City with her sister. They returned home over the weekend.

Harold and Fred Brockwell have returned home after a two weeks' vacation in Whiting, Ind., where they visited their sister, Mrs. James Irvine.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Rogers and family of Grand Rapids, Mich., visited Mr. and Mrs. Joe Brockwell last weekend.

Mrs. Harold Davis of West Palm Beach, Fla. is visiting in Fulton.

Miss Palmer Complimented

Miss Linda Sue Palmer, bride-elect of Joel Stow Field of Martin, Tenn., was the honoree at a delightful luncheon Wednesday, Aug. 13, at one o'clock at the Park Terrace. Hostesses were Mrs. Bob Fowlkes and Mrs. Hillard Bugg, aunts of the guest of honor.

The guests were seated at a long table, which held several arrangements of summer flowers. Places were marked with place cards that held a cluster of tiny blue ribbon bows, with seed pearls on silver stems.

The bride-elect was dressed in a pale blue linen sack dress, with white accessories. She was presented a pink corsage and was given a piece of her chosen china.

Invited guests included—Miss Palmer, her mother, Mrs. James Palmer, Mrs. Hayden Fields, mother of the groom, Miss Carol Fields, Mrs. W. M. Wells, Mrs. Doyle Killebrew of Martin, Mrs. Buck Stow, Miss Judy Laws, Mrs. Homer Laws, Mrs. Carmin Bowlin, of Dresden, Miss Carol Reynolds of Union City, Miss Charlotte Taylor of Sharon, Tenn., Miss Faye Hunt of Alamo, Miss Shirley Grant of Rutherford, Miss Glenda Pritchett of Finley, Tenn., Miss Ruth Caldwell, Miss Virginia Forrest, Miss Annette Conner, Miss Dianne Palmer, Mrs. Atilla Hemphill, Mrs. Tom Counce, Mrs. Charles Fields, Mrs. Mansfield Martin, and Mrs. Jack Gilbert of Lawrence, Kan.

Miss Clara McMurry Becomes Bride Of Larry Henderson On August 9

In a candlelight ceremony Aug. 9 at the Cayce Methodist Church, Miss Clara McMurry, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James McMurry of Cayce, became the bride of Larry Henderson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Henderson, Sr. of Detroit, Mich.

The Rev. Warren Pafford performed the double-ring ceremony before a background of white gladioli and wrought-iron candelabras holding white tapers.

Mrs. C. E. Underwood, wearing a blue chiffon dress with white accessories and white carnation corsage, presented a prelude of organ music. Miss Betty Lacy, vocalist, sang "I Love You Truly". She was wearing a model of blue chiffon and black accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

The bride, escorted to the altar by her father, was wearing an exquisite waltz length gown of white embossed tulle. The bodice was designed similar to the bride's. Her headpiece was a wedding rig hoop overlaid with blue net trimmed with seed pearls. She carried a nosegay arrangement of all white daisies with ice blue ribbon. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Billy Curtsinger, whose dress was fashioned of yellow chiffon and Mrs. Howard Norton in yellow chiffon. Their dresses were identically styled like the matron of honor's. Their headpiece was a wedding ring hoop overlaid with yellow net trimmed with seed pearls. They carried nosegays of white daisies with yellow centers and matching yellow ribbon.

Miss Carla Campbell, cousin of the bride, served as flower girl. She wore a pale pink chiffon dress, highlighted by a darker pink sash. Her headpiece was identical to those of the other attendants. She carried a white satin basket, trimmed with pink net and seed pearls, filled with rose petals.

Miss Margie Collier and Jo Forrest Campbell, cousins of the bride, lighted the candles. Her dress was a mint green with a full skirt. She wore a wristlet of white daisies.

Harold Henderson, Jr. of Fulton, brother of the bridegroom, served as best man. Ushers were Charles Jones and Bobby Harrison, cousins of the bride.

The bride's mother was attired in a beautiful model of orchid taffeta overlaid with matching chantilly lace. Her white pill box hat was trimmed with iridescent sequins. Her corsage was of white carnations. Mrs. Henderson chose a lovely model of figured silk over taffeta. Her accessories were white and she wore a shoulder arrangement of white carnations.

Following the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. McMurry entertained at a reception in the church annex. A beautiful styled lace cloth covered the bride's table. The four-tiered wedding cake was topped with a miniature bride and groom, and a froth of white netting surrounded the bottom of the cake.

Assisting in the serving were Mrs. Bill Eddleman of Plymouth, Mich., sister of the bride, who wore a yellow linene frock, fashioned on princess lines; and Mrs. Charles McMurry of Phoenix, Ariz., sister-in-law of the bride, who was wearing a pink embroidered linen sheath.

Immediately following the reception the couple left on a wedding trip. The bride was dressed in a navy blue ensemble of raw silk. She wore her orchid from her bridal bouquet. Her accessories were white.

Nancy Peeples Becomes Bride Of Jeff Lester Here On August 10

Sunday afternoon, August tenth, at the First Methodist Church, Miss Nancy Peeples pledged her marriage vows to Thomas Jefferson Lester. The vows were exchanged before a setting of white gladioli and greenery encircled with candles.

The Reverend J. L. Leggett, pastor performed the impressive double-ring ceremony.

Mrs. C. L. Maddox, organist, and Misses Sue Bowers and Martha Cunningham, vocalists, presented a program of nuptial music preceding and during the exchanging of the vows.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clayburn I. Peeples of Fulton. Mr. Lester is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Lester, also of Fulton.

The bride, escorted by her father, wore a dress of embroidered nylon over satin. Small pearls accented the scoop neckline and pointed sleeves of her gown. The full skirt which fell into a small train was banded with nylon and featured a satin bustle in the back. Her elbow length veil of silk illusion was attached to a small lace crown edged with sequins and pearls. She carried a bouquet of talisman and yellow roses.

Mrs. Bill Cook of Dyersburg was her sister's matron of honor. She wore a white length dress of pale yellow chiffon with a scoop neckline and full skirt. Her matching headband held a small circular veil. She carried a bouquet of peach colored daisies.

The two bridesmaids, Miss Margaret Lynn Peeples, sister of the bride and Miss Donna Sue Johnston, wore identical dresses of pale chiffon. They wore matching headbands and carried bouquets of white daisies.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Peeples chose a gown of tulle and navy sheer. She wore a corsage of pink roses. Mrs. Lester, mother of the groom, wore a beige lace sheath dress with a brown orchid corsage. Best man was Donald Mac Speight. Groomsman were Eddie Moore and George Edd Easley.

Following the ceremony a reception was held and those assisting were Mrs. W. J. Speight, Miss Betty Peeples, Miss Jane Price of Murray, Miss Nita Corbin, Murray, and Miss Katherine Cooke of Dyersburg.

After a short wedding trip the young couple will make their home in Caruthersville, Mo., where Mr. Lester will be a member of the faculty of the high school.

Beadles-Nelson Vows Are Pledged

Of interest here is the announcement of the marriage of Janet Vandergriff Beadles, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Vandergriff of Mayfield, to William Herbert Nelson of Dukedom, Tenn. The impressive ceremony was solemnized at four o'clock on the afternoon of Friday, August 1, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Jackson and Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Jackson in Dukedom. The Rev. Cordis Womack, Cumberland Presbyterian minister of Union City, Tenn., and the Rev. Bob Williams were the ministers.

The nuptial vows were exchanged before the mantel which was decorated with an arrangement of pink miracle lilies in an antique crystal epergne flanked by tapers in crystal holders. The fireplace was banked with magnolia leaves. Arrangements of summer flowers were used throughout the home.

For her marriage the bride chose a Paul Parness dressmaker suit of gold Italian silk. The jacket designed with blouson effect, was fastened with self covered buttons. The skirt was pencil slim. She wore a black velvet picture hat and other black accessories. Her shoulder corsage was a vivid fuchsia orchid.

Mrs. William Carlisle, sister of the bride, was the matron of honor. She wore a floral printed polished cotton frock in tones of yellow designed with portrait neckline and brief sleeves; the skirt was softly gathered. Her hat and other accessories were white, and she wore a white carnation corsage.

steps . . . but, anyway, I made it!

Now, Jo has been doing all of this talking about HOW MANY friends I have . . . listen, you should just be in New Orleans with her! You see, she lived there—in fact, she went to high school there . . . and she has friends on just about every corner! Let me tell you about her very dearest friend. Her name is Grace Niklaus. She is Bridal Consultant for D. H. Holmes. In fact, she is one of the South's most outstanding consultants. And she's such a petite little lassie! Jo had told me so very much about Grace, but I had pictured her as a larger person, maybe it was because of the position she holds—it just didn't seem that a "little" person could handle such a "big" job. Let me tell you that after having talked with Grace for just a minute, it was certainly evident that she could "handle" ANY job! Actually, I'm getting a little ahead of my story. Jo and I went into the beautiful Holmes Dept. Store and were informed that Grace's office was on the third floor—so we went up the escalator to her floor. We were directed across the enormous floor and there we saw the most delightful office with a beautifully arched doorway with assistants until Jo just casually said, Hello! You may well imagine how surprised Grace was. This was the first time they had seen each other in about 13 years! So Grace called her delightful husband, and they took us to lunch at Brennans, Brennans famous restaurant has always been a favorite New Orleans spot for me. One has a feeling of the old New Orleans hospitality. We loved being with Grace and they are a couple who are so alive—with their interesting jobs—and their lovely home. They were a real inspiration to both of us. As we left her on the corner of Royal Street, I wished that I might have known Grace Niklaus better. New Orleans is fortunate to have her as a citizen!

We left New Orleans on Friday afternoon and arrived in Clarksdale, Miss., to spend the night with my family. Arrived home about six p. m. Saturday. Paul had left that morning for Fort Meade, so "IMA toleing ya, it wuz gud to get back to ole Fulton."

Ray Smith To Face Charge

Rock-and-roll television performer Ray Smith will be charged in a warrant with disturbing the peace after an early morning fracas with a girl at Wickliffe, Ky., said Sheriff Roger Giles.

The girl, Shelby Jean Unsell, refused to take a warrant for Smith after Giles found her lying on the payment, apparently after having been beaten.

Neighbors called the sheriff at 3:30 a. m. after the noisy quarrel broke out at the corner where Highways 51 and 60 intersect.

The girl wasn't believed to be badly injured. She identified her assailant as Smith, but refused to take a warrant for him.

Sheriff Giles said however that county officials would take a warrant themselves charging breach of the peace.

SUCCESSFUL HOMEMAKING

By Marie Holland
Home Demonstrator, Kentucky Utilities

No one has ever explained why bacon cooked in the open air smells better and tastes better than bacon broiled in the kitchen. That's true of hamburgers, fresh caught fish, steaks and I could go on and on. The aroma of campfire coffee makes some people positively poetic.

When the weather is fine, a smart homemaker serves meals outdoors. Sometime breakfast out in the back yard on a week end when the chores allow; a picnic dinner after church; or supper on the porch. You can be sure of good appetites, plus plenty of help. The family is some how more ready to lend a hand on an outing.

For meals on a breezeway or porch you can't beat a rotisserie which can barbecue, roast, broil, toast, grill or fry. It's ready to fix a snack or a meal wherever there's an AC electric plug. A roaster is handy for porch plugging in cooking too.

Wherever you have your picnic grounds, it is very handy and nice to have some out side outlets so you can plug in any of your small appliances, electric skillet, deep fat fryer, coffee makers or any other small appliance you might like to cook on.

Your cook-out can be planned in advance or become a spur-of-the-moment adventure. With salad vegetables from a summer garden and a well stocked home freezer, the menu shouldn't be any problem. You may have lost your enthusiasm for roasted frankfurters and toasted marshmallows long ago, but not your children.

Here is a good philosophy for a cook-out: Don't fuss or hurry. Enjoy the cooking as well as the eating. Select your family's favorites, then cook each to perfection.

Scouts Travel 2,600 Miles On Trip Recently

Thirty Explorers and three leaders of the Four Rivers Council, Boy Scouts of America have returned from a 2,600-mile trip through the West which included a 12 day stay at the Philmont Scout Ranch at Cimarron, N. M.

Highlight events included visits to Fort Leavenworth, Kansas, Fort Carson, Colorado, Dodge City (including Boot Hill) Pikes Peak, the Garden of the Gods, The Royal Gorge and Kit Carson's home.

Leaders for the group included Charles Clifford of Paducah, Dempsey Stokes of Mayfield and Roy Wehman of Union City, Tenn., and Fulton, Mayfield, Paducah and Lone Oak and a visiting Explorer from Evansville, Ind.

Plans for 1959 include a similar expedition into Canadian wilderness by canoe. The last Canadian trip was conducted in 1955 with 29 explorers participating.

One of the outstanding adventures of the trip was the hike over Clear Creek Mountain at an elevation of 12,000 feet. The scouts got so cold they heated rocks to put in their sleeping bags to keep warm.

"We didn't believe it could be so cold in the summer time," one Explorer said, "but it was worth it."

Wildlife seen by the group at Philmont Scout Ranch included deer, elk, porcupine, bison (buffalo), Jackrabbits and numerous birds. One group of scouts spent a day, "On Survival". During that time they lived without food other than that which they could find and their diet included clover blossoms, grasshoppers, wild onions and gooseberries.

CITY QUIZZES—

of course is not exempt from insurance, so you would have an additional saving on your household furnishings, and if you have your furnishings insured for $3000 you would save an additional $11.40.

3. A sewer system would be built throughout Highlands. This additional extension of water and sewer would require the issuance of revenue bonds against the revenue of the entire city system.

Rather than create a separate sewer district and assess a tax on the property it would be proposed to place a monthly sur-charge on the water and sewer bill sufficient to pay that part of the entire improvement for extending and building the lines through Highlands.

Now, if the people in Highlands would prefer we could build the sewers in Highlands on an assessment basis, and the bill could be paid in cash upon completion or upon a 10-year payment plan. To give you an example of a sur-charge: assume that it will cost $108,000 to extend water and sewers in Highlands and the minimum water bill might be assumed to be $2.00, with 50% added as a sewer charge, which amounts to $1.00, and that 50% is added as a sur-charge, this would make your total minimum water and sewer charge $4.50. Today you are paying a minimum of $3.25 for water with no sewerage, except your own septic tank.

4. The City's natural gas mains would be extended, if there was sufficient demand, and the charge for gas would be uniform over the city.

5. Street lights would be installed over the area.

6. Police protection would be provided.

7. Garbage service would be available.

8. The Planning and Zoning Commission would zone the area and protect residential property.

9. There would be no plan to enforce the construction of streets until the people on the streets demanded it.

10. Voting privilege as a city precinct would be effective at the next election after annexation.

We would appreciate your ideas on this matter and after careful consideration of this letter, you are requested to fill in, sign and return to the City Clerk the enclosed form by September 1, 1958.

Thanking you for your consideration and we suggest that you read this letter again before acting.

Very truly yours,

NELSON A. TRIPP
